

No other event is more synonymous with the history of the Pacific Northwest than the journey of William Clark, Meriwether Lewis and the Corps of Discovery. Dispatched by President Thomas Jefferson to explore the Missouri to its headwaters and on to the Pacific, the 55-member expedition braved high deserts, soaring mountains, whitewater rapids, bitter cold and blizzards, hunger and hardships... until, at last, they floated down the mighty Columbia...and opened the Great Northwest for all the world to see.

As a salute to those bold, daring and dangerous exploits, Gordon's Hardwood Flooring offers:
